FORAKER GOES HOME TO FIGHT

WILL ACQUIESCE IN NO COMPRO-MISE WITH TAFT FACTION.

Mr. Burton's Declaration That the Senator Most Be Eliminated From Chie Pollties Regarded as a Personal Insult -Foraker Leaves Washington To-day.

WASHINGTON, June 17 .- There will be no compromise between the Foraker and Taft factions in the Republican party in Ohio. Every delegate the Secretary of War captures he will get with the sword. If Senator Foraker ever was disposed to acquiesce in any harmony programme he has given it up as the result of the declaration by Representative Burton of Cleveland that Foraker must be eliminated from Ohio politics. Mr. Burton was supposed to be speaking for Secretary Taft. That declaration was regarded by Senator Foraker and his friends as more than a political affront. They contend that it was a personal insult.

There have been some suggestions since the Eastern visit of Arthur L. Vorys, the Taft manager, that a harmony programme was to be arranged and submitted to Senator Foraker whereby he should acquiesce in a Taft delegation, be allowed to return to the Senate unopposed and have the privilege of placing Taft in nomination for President. Senator Foraker's friends say that no such suggestion has been submitted to him and would not be accepted if pro-

Senator Foraker returned to Washington from Philadelphia to-day and will go to Ohio to-morrow afternoon to remain until Congress meets. He declined to discuss politics to-day, except to say that the Ohio situation was entirely satisfactory to him. He will make no announcements His friends have advised him that about a zen counties only out of a total of eightyeight have declared for Taft and in some of these resolutions of indorsement were passed by fewer than a majority of the entire

Senator Foraker will go to Cincinnati, arriving there Wednesday, and on Thursday will deliver an address at Wilberforce University, a negro educational institution. In his speech he will handle the question of responsibility for the Brownsville affray. On Friday he will speak on railroad legislation before the national convention of the freight traffic agents at Put in Bay. He has an invitation to go to Toledo Saturday. The Senator will be kept busy with invitations for public speeches, some of them on political matters. While averse to discussing politics, Mr. Foraker showed a willingness to talk about the Brownsville hearing before the Senate Committee on Military Affairs which closed last week. He has not been convinced by the testimony taken that the soldiers shot up the Texas town. "My attention has just been called to the statement; published in a New York newspaper of Sunday, purporting to be a review and analysis of the testimony that has been taken in the Brownsville investigation and setting forth the claim that it shows conclusively that soldiers of the Twenty-fifth battalion did the shooting," said the Senator. "It is so grossly inaccurate and unjust that plain duty to the truth as well as to the accused soldiers requires that something be said in answer, and inasmuch as I am more familiar with the testimony than anybody else this duty seems to fall upon me. "The testimony given by the soldiers in their own behalf is not in my opinion shaken by the testimony given by the citizens of Brownsville. That testimony, in the first place, is but a repetition of what was first taken by the citizens' committee and afterward more elaborately retaken by Mr. Purdy. No important item of new evidence has been brought forward against the soldiers in this examination. Ninety per cent. of what the citizens have testified about had relation to matters over which there was no controversy. For instance, everybody concedes that the town was shot up; that somebody did it: that these people who did it passed through the streets and alleys where the shooting was done, and that they had guns or revolvers or firearms of some sort and that one man was killed and another wounded. The only dispute is as to whether the raiders were identified as soldiers of the garrison "There are two kinds of evidence relied upon to show that the soldiers did it. One consists of shells and bullets that were secured from the streets and houses of Brownsville. The results of the microscopic inspection, interpreted in the light of the other testimony of the case, completely disposed of this part of the case. The only other testimony is that of people who claim to have been eyewitnesses to the shooting. This consists of statements various people that when they heard the firing they looked out of their windows and houses and down dark alleys, where there were lights at distances varying all the way from 30 feet up to 150 feet, and recognized the men who were doing the firing as negroes wearing the uniform of

United States soldiers. The officers of the battalion have tesfified generally and specifically as to the darkness of the night. By specifically I mean have given specific incidents coming within their personal experiences that illustrated how dark the night was. According to this testimony, in the language of Major Penrose, the night was so dark that he could not distinguish one of his officers, who were all white men, from one of his enlisted men, who were all colored, at a distance of 10 feet, nor could be at that distance tell anything about how a man was dressed.

"All these officers have testified that the claims of the citizens who testified that they saw the raiders and recognized them as soldiers at the distances and under the cumstances stated by them are utterly impossible. These officers are intelligent. high minded, honorable men. At lime, when the case was only partially investigated, they were of the opinion and frankly stated it that their men were guilty, but that fact only strengthens their testimony as they now give it that the testimony of the citizens by which they claim to identify their soldiers is utterly unreliable, untrustworthy and by them unbelevable

"I do not know whether any more testimony will be taken and of course do not know, if any should be taken, just what it will be, and I cannot therefore with propriety predict ultimate results, but have no hesitation in saying that the testimony taken down to this time utterly fails, in my opinion, to show that the sol-

SUB-TREASURY RIGHT TO A CENT. Includes 350 Tens of Gold and More Than

3,000 Tons of Silver. Gideon Bantz, deputy assistant United States Treasurer, and his force of eighteen assistants and twenty-five laborers completed yesterday the task of counting the coin and currency in the Sub-Treasury. They found that the amount of money contained in the vaults and other repositories balanced to a cent with that shown on the books. As a result Assistant Treasurer Hamilton Fish, in charge of the Sub-Treasury, is discharged from the bond of $600 .-000 given when he took office four years ago and a new bond in the same amount will be accepted for the second term of office, to which he has already been appointed.

Mr. Bantz and his assistants counted the money as of date May 11. They found a total of $267,836,166.26. A part of this amount, $2,826,166.26, was counted first as tellers' balances and the remainder was counted separately in the vaults. There was $178,125,000 or about 350 tons in gold coin; $74,598,000 in silver dollars; $1.20°,000 in fractional silver; $179,000 in minor coin, and $16,900,000 in gold certificates. The total weight of the silver was more than 3,000 tons.

DEATH 13 YEARS OVERDUE.

Strange Story of an "Américan Duel" in Vienna-Police Seck Survivor.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. LONDON, June 18 .- The Vienna corespondent of the Express says that Samuel Zeisler, the manager of a large factory at Budapest, has committed suicide owing to an "American duel" arranged twenty years ago, when Zeisler was serving in the army. He quarrelled with Sergt. Vilaky, and as the rules forbade an ordinary duel they agreed to draw lots to determine which of them should commit suicide within five years. Zeisler drew the black lot, but as the sergeant soon afterward emigrated to America he thought it safe not to fulfil the compact. A few days ago, however, Vjlaky met him on the street in Budapest and exclaimed, "What, are you alive still? and insisted that he keep his word.

Zeisler begged his enemy to overlook the bargain on the ground that he was engaged to be married. He offered Vilaky his whole fortune of $7,500 as a ransom, but Vjlaky said he had made a fortune in the United States and wanted Zeisler's life, not his money. He added that if Zeisler did not kill himself in thirty days he would shoot him himself.

Zeisler thereupon committed suicide with revolver after writing letters explaining the circumstances. The police are searching for Vilaky, as an "American duel" is a criminal offence punishable by ten years im prisonment

MADE POOR MAN'S COURT WAIT. Major Hints That Lofty Motives Did Not Control at Albany.

Mayor McClellan signed yesterday the egislative bill increasing the number of Judges of the City Court from six to ten, raising the salaries of the Judges from $10,000 to $12,000 and providing for the appointment of additional clerks, stenographers and interpreters. The bill takes effect at once, so that the Governor will have the appointment of four Judges who will hold office until next January, when they will give way to the Judges to be elected next November. The bill increasing the number of Judges in the Court of General Sessions likewise took effect at once, but the bill adding to the number of the Municipal Court Justices, where the appointing power lies with Mayor, does not take effect until January 1

Of this the Mayor says: "I think it will be conceded by all members of the bar that of these three courts the Municipal Court is the one which has the greatest claim to immediate relief. but this is the very court which has been forced to wait for such relief because I. and not the Governor, have the appointing

BOLD HOLDUP IN A SILK HOUSE

BROTHERS WHO LIVE AT Y. M. C. A. CONFESS THE CRIME.

Point Revolvers at Two Office Boys Who Opened the Place and Gag and Bind Them-Walk Out With Lost in Broad Daylight-Alleged Receiver Arrested.

Two men held up two office boys at the point of revolvers in the silk warerooms of Rosenthal Brothers & Eichold, at 463 Broome street, early yesterday morning. bound and gagged them and departed with two bundles of silk. The two men were arrested last night after Central Office detectives had worked all day on the case. They proved to be Harry A. Kennedy, said to be a teacher of athletics in the parks, and his brother, William V. Kennedy. They live at the Y. M. C. A. building 153 East Eighty-sixth street. Both made a full confession, and on their statements the police also arrested Mever Krawitz of 97 Baxter street, a storekeeper, who had taken the silk and had given them $95, with a promise of $300 more in a day or two, according to the Kennedys

The robbery was executed in such a bold manner yesterday morning that when Capt. McCafferty first heard of the case he was inclined to believe that it was a dream of the two boys who reported it. They are Sidney Goldsmith and Henry Factor. firm they work for occupies the whole of the second floor at 463 Broome street and is a large silk house. Part of the floor is the showroom and part is divided into private offices.

The two boys are the first to arrive and open up the place and turn off the Holmes burglar alarm system which is kept on during the night.

Young Goldsmith did this at 7:30 yester day morning and then stepped into a closet. When he came out he faced two revolvers. William V. Kennedy, whom the boy recognized as having been a former stock clerk, held the revolvers and communded "Hands

Young Goldsmith refused to obey this command, whereupon Kennedy hit him over the head with one of the guns, knocking him down. Then with the assistance of his brother he proceeded to bind his hands and feet and to gag him with a green handhim the length of the loft and threw him into one of the private offices.

Just about this time Factor arrived. He came up calling for Goldsmith and the two men held him up in a similar manner. He was bound and gagged in the same way and then carried and dumped into another private office. Then the two Kennedys made off with two packages of silk, one containing twenty-three pieces and the other twenty-six. They had tied these up before the boys arrived.

It was some time after they left that young Factor managed to equirm out of the private office in which he had been put. He rolled along the floor until he came to the other private office, rolled into that one and got alongside of young Goldsmith. By biting the cord he got one of Goldsmith's hands free and this enabled Goldsmith to get a knife out of Factor's pocket. Then they released each other. The two boys then tried to get Police Headquarters on the telephone but couldn't, o they ran out into the street and go policeman. The case was at once reported to McCafferty, and though the latter was a bit inclined to doubt the story at first he turned out Detectives Clark, Peabody, O'Farrell and Raphael. They ran down several clues and finally got on one that led up to the Y. M. C. A. on East Eightysixth street last evening. There they found Harry Kennedy. He promptly denied the whole thing and insisted that he hadn't seen his brother for days. The detectives learned from the secretary of the Y. M. C. A. that the brother had been there only yesterday, so they looked Harry Kennedy up at Police Headquarters on general principles. He hadn't been in a cell long before he decided to make a clean breast of it.

He confirmed the boys' story of the holdup and said that he had an engagement to meet his brother at 8:30 last evening at the Clinton baths in Clinton street, Brooklyn. The detectives hotfooted it over there just in time to nab the brother. He, too, made a full confession.

The Kennedys told then of taking the silk to Krawitz's store and getting $95 for it right after the robbery and it was then that Krawitz was arrested. They will be arraigned in the Tombs court this morning Harry Kennedy is 18; his brother is 22.

GREAT BEAR SPRING WATER

And That Ends 'All the Morse-Dodge Case Prosecutions.

Benjamin Steinhardt, once of the firm of Howe & Hummel, died in a sanitarium in The Bronx yesterday. His body was taken to his home at 225 West End avenue yesterday afternoon from the sanitarium.

He leaves a widow. Steinhardt had been a sufferer from locomotor ataxia for years, but his energy was such that he kept on with his law practice for a long time, often being carried into court to argue a case. He began, like Hummel, as an office boy under W. F. Howe and worked his way up until he became a member of the firm. He was engaged by Peter De Lacy in the fight made by the poolroom interests against the Percy-Gray law and carried this fight along for years. He was still at it when his condition became such that he had to go to a sanitarium. A few days ago Mrs. Steinhardt called at the District Attorney's office and said her husband was dying and that she would like to have the indictments against him dismissed. The indictments were for subornation of perjury and conspiracy growing out of the Dodge divorce scandal Abe Hummel, who was convicted of conspiracy and is now serving his sentence on Blackwell's Island, was indicted for the LEGISLATURE IS CURIOUS.

Would Like Before Adjourning to Know the Utilities Commissioners

"Let's string the session of the Legislature along until we can get a line on the Governor's appointments to the Utilities Commission," said a Republican legislator yesterday just before taking the train for "These are very important places and they may have a potential bearing on the future complexion of the Republican State organization."

Gov. Hughes has not even by the wink of an eyelid given an intimation of his selections. It is general gossip in the inner circles of the Republican camp that Job Hedges and William M. Ivins are to be two of the Commissioners for the New York city territory. It is even said that Seth Low is also to be named, and yet it has been understood all along that if Senator Platt should resign his seat in the United States Senate after the Legislature adjourns Gov. Hughes is to appoint Mr. Low to the vacancy. This interim appointment would in the minds of many carry with it Mr. Low's election for the full term of six years by the joint Republican caucus to be held in January.

DOCTOR KIND TO MIZNER.

Wouldn't Charge Mrs. Yerkes's Former Husband With Using Indecent Language. Dr. Henry P. DeForest of 150 West Fortyseventh street, a police surgeon, stepped from a Broadway car at Forty-seventh street last night just as an automobile went speeding past. The auto went so close to Dr. DeForest that he had to jump back on the street car to save himself from being struck. Some one in the machine made remarks about the surgeon as he jumped out of the way that caused him to get the number and have a general alarm sent out for the automobile

The police learned that the machine was owned by Wilson Mizner, the former husband of Mrs. Charles T. Yerkes. Both Mizner and the machine were found at the Hotel Rand, Broadway and Forty-ninth street, and the chauffeur. Philip Glickman of 22 Gramercy Park was arrested and taken to the West Forty-seventh street station. Mizner went along to ball him out. Dr. DeForest was summoned, and when he got there Mizner declared that he was he got there Mizner declared that he was in no danger of being struck by the automobile, and made a series of remarks about the police surgeon that caused Lieut. Walsh, who was on the desk, to tell Dr. DeForest that Mizner would be locked up for using indecent language if he would make the complaint. Dr. DeForest finally decided that he wouldn't do so and went away. Mizner then gave bail for the chauffeur.

BENJAMIN STEINHARDT, DEAD. FIREMEN MUTINY ALL NIGHT

AND RUSSIAN STEAMSHIP AR-CONIA SAILS A DAY LATE.

Skipper Lays It to Thirst—Box rding House Masters Who Shipped the Mutineers Turn Out to Be an Efficient Force for Making Most of Them Go to Work.

The steamship Arconia of the Russian East Asiatic Line, bound for Rotterdam and Libau with a cargo of general merchandise and fifty passengers, left the Erie Basin at 11 o'clock on Sunday morning. She had shipped about twenty new firemen. She was perhaps ten feet from the end of the pier when four men climbed up on the taffrail and jumped. Two made the pier and two went into the water and swam to the pier. The sixteen new firemen who were left then lined up on the Arconia's deck and intimated to Capt. Bolter that they had made up their minds to take a few more drinks in the land of the free and the home of the brave and would the captain please send down orders to have the engines stopped and one of the ship's yawls manned?

The captain advised them to get down to work without delay. The firemen refused and set up a shout for help from the land. Capt. Bolter tried persuasion until his patience was exhausted and then tried other measures, but the men refused to work, and when the Arconia got opposite Tompkinsville she anchored scarcely enough power to turn over her propeller. She was still in the fairway when she came to a stop.

Capt. Bolter hoisted a signal of distress. The United States revenue cutter Mohawk was near by and her yawl put out with Capt. Reed and six men. Capt. Bolter explained his troubles and produced the agreements the men had signed. The firemen said that things had been misrepresented to them. Capt. Reed refused to interfere, but warned the men against using any violence. All the afternoon the mutineers made the Staten Island shore ring with their calls for boats. A good many Tompkinsville people rowed out to see what was up. The mutineers crowded to the rail and begged to be taken

"We'll jump," some of them shouted, and you can pick us up."

The officers drove them away from the rail and warned the Tompkinsville craft not to come near. Capt. Bolter and his officers paced the deck all night long watching the mutineers and two of the leaders were shut up in one of the cabins.

One of the crew telephoned from Tompkinsville to Benham & Boyesan, the agents for the Arconia, and early yesterday morn-ing Port Captain Norman of the line went down on a tug with some men to take the places of those who had jumped and six or seven boarding house masters who had shipped the new firemen. The boarding house masters went at the mutineers hard, and when Capt. Norman finally came to line them up all but two said they would sail. The two who refused were the leaders of the mutiny. They were tumbled off on to the tug, but one of them before he left was obliged to separate himself from a new suit of clothes which he had got before sailing It was about noon when the Arconia got up steam enough to resume her course down the

Capt. Norman said he wasn't able to find out what the strikers wanted and he didn't believe they knew themselves. They had been drinking, he said.

ORCHARD'S TRIAL POSTPONED. Haywood Case Adjourned for a Day While

Chief Witness Is Arraigned. Boise, June 17.-No progress was made in the Haywood murder trial to-day. It was necessary for Judge Wood to go to Caldwell to adjourn the trial of Harry Orchard, which had been set for to-day in Canyon county. The proceedings were very brief and purely formal. The case was adjourned for the term and Orchard was remanded to the custody of Warden Whitney of the penitentiary, in whose care he has now been for a year and a half. Orchard was taken to Caldwell on an early train, accompanied by several guards, and at 6 o'clock this evening he was again in the penitentiary here. The court room at Caldwell was crowded with a throng of curious persons who wanted to see the man who had made such an extraordinary confession of crime.

Judge Wood appointed Frank T. Wyman to defend Orchard when his trial really comes off, but it is not likely that Wyman will have anything to do for a long time. Orchard will certainly not be tried until all the cases of men against whom he may ap-pear as a witness have been disposed of

BLAZE TURNS STANDPIPE INTO A STEAM GENERATOR.

Fire Captain Bill Clark and Half a Dozen of His Men Painfully Injured-Man at Nezzle Compelled to Drop Hose by Steam Gushing From the Nozzle-

One of the unusual accidents that sometimes befall firemen occurred early last night at a fire on the top floor of a nine story building at 75 and 77 Spring street when Capt. Bill Clark of Truck 9 and half a dozen other firemen were badly scalded by a stream of water that they were playing on the fire.

The top floor of this building is occupied by Glassberg, Son & Kahn, shirtwaist manufacturers, and the whole floor was in flames by the time the firemen arrived. Engine 20 arrived first, and after connecting one lead of hose with the standpipe on the ground floor Lieut. Lynch led his men up to the eighth floor with another coil. Capt. Bill Clark and his men of Truck 9 went along to help out, Then the engines started pumping water through the standpipe. When the door leading to the burning floor was opened the water was turned on from the pipe. With a noise that sounded to persons on the street like an exploding boiler a cloud of steam shot from the nozzle of the hose, followed by a stream of scalding water. The fire had turned the standpipe into a boiler.

Fireman John Egan of Engine 20, who was holding the nozzle, was so hadly scalded about the hands, arms and body that he dropped it. The flood of hot water then drove all the firemen back to the eighth floor, but before they could get out of the way Capt. Clark was scalded in spots from his shoulder to his finger tips and Fireman Prucie, also of Truck 9, was seriously in-Other firemen suffered from minor scalds. All the injured firemen were taken to the quarters of Engine 20 in Lafayette street, a block away, where their hurts were dressed by an ambulance surgeon from St. Vincent's Hospital. While the firemen on the inside were having their troubles members of Engine 13 carried a load of hose up the fire escape to fight the blaze from the outside. The bursting in of the door by the men of Truck 9 and Engine 20 caused a back draught which smashed out all the windows and covered the firemen of Engine 13 with glass. None of them was hurt. The great volume of water pumped into the standpipe quickly cooled it off and it wasn't long before another crew of firemen had flooded the floor from the inside and had put out the fire. The damage was said to be $5,000. After the fire Deputy Chief Kruger said that he had known of cases where the men had similar trouble with scalding water, but never on so extensive a scale.
